The Energy Chair

Function

We listen very carefully to what our customers say about how they work and to their ideas about how their equipment should be designed. One of the major secrets behind the success of our products is the practical functions which make work easier.

Solutions

The Energy Chair's ability to fulfil a wide range of requirements and to accommodate different types of relaxation and massage is well known. The chair's flexibility means that new possibilities and areas of use are constantly being discovered.

Working Positions

The chair is adjustable to fit anyone, regardless of their height or weight.

The comfortable sitting position takes the strain off the back of the person who is seated and allows them to relax. It also ensures that the therapist is in a comfortable and effective working position.

Facts about the Energy Chair

Specification	Energy chair
Materials	Birch plywood
Head rest	Two different models
Arm rest	Included
Dimensions when folded up	28 x 32 x 90 cm
Weight	11 kg
Colour	Leather coloured or plum red

The first Energy Chairs were developed for Japanese energy massage, hence their name. As a result of increased awareness of the importance of and opportunities for preventive health care, new applications for the Energy Chair are constantly emerging. The Energy Chair has a clearly defined role to play in treatment rooms, in company health care departments, in the workplace and at spas and health farms. For many masseurs and therapists, whether they are employees or are running their own company, the Energy Chair is the most important business investment they will make.

Energy Chairs are now used in acupuncture, laser treatment, massage, relaxation, tactile stimulation and many other areas.

One example of a less traditional use for the Energy Chair is tattooing. It helps the client to sit comfortably during the tattooing process and puts the tattooist in the perfect working position.

Craftsmanship

The birchwood Energy Chair has an attractive design and a high-quality finish.

The design and construction of the chair are examples of true craftsmanship. The chair is a flexible, stable and highly valued piece of equipment which helps to relieve major strains and stresses.

Precision

The care and precision with which our products are manufactured and their well-designed functions have made Stjernerundsprodukter into one of the market leaders. The high quality of our products means that we can offer a 10-year guarantee on product design, manufacture and assembly.

Options

When the chair is folded up, you can put it in a protective case made of burgundy-coloured water-resistant nylon. You can also fix large wheels to the case.

The Energy Chair only weighs 11 kg, and therefore can easily be carried or pulled along in the case.

Birgitta Dahl, Företagsmassage i Stockholm, Sweden

We hire out masseurs to other companies to provide the type of massage which our customers want. Energy massage is extremely popular. We take our Energy Chairs with us on planes, along old cobble-stoned streets, in lifts, everywhere we go.

The Energy Chair is very robust and easy to transport. And Stjernerundsprodukter provides a fantastic service.

Jan Nielsen, Massageservice, Malmö, Sweden

Even though I don't offer energy massage, I still have an Energy Chair in my practice.

The design of the chair means that it can be used for many other purposes, for example when I give connective tissue massage. It is ideally suited to treating pregnant women who can't lie down or older people with blood-pressure problems.

Larsjöran Jordammar, Friska Tag, Örebro, Sweden

The original Energy Chair comes from Sweden and was specially developed for energy massage. All the other chairs on the market are copies. The chair can be adjusted depending on the patient's build, and the strain on the patient's back muscles disappears almost completely. I really love the chair's clever features, flexibility, stability and design.

Marie Strömdahl, Hasseludden, Stockholm, Sweden

The concept behind Hasseludden is that it should form a harmonious whole. We use Energy Chairs in the therapy department and in the conference area where our guests can have a "coffee-break massage".

The Energy Chairs look so elegant that they are left on display. Their attractive, inspirational design encourages people to book a massage.
